

Test your knowledge of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario!

Discover what a typical day is like at Ontario's Parliament. Fill in the blanks using words from the word bank below.

8:55 a.m.

It is 8:55 a.m. and eve	eryone is rushing around in the	Legislative Building to get ready for the meeting of the	, also called	the House, which is about to begin promptly at 9:00 a.m. The sessional bells	s are ringing throughout the Le	egislative Building to summon all the Members of Provincial Parliament, or	, to the Legislative Cham	ber. The young Legislative look dapper in their traditiona	al as they s	curry about getting the ready for the business day.	hey take their posts on either	side of the Speaker and by the Chamber doors.
The Pages serve in the House	se for approximately two to fou	ır weeks during each session. They are grade students fro	m across Ontario, who are he	re to learn about the legislative process and how works.	When in the Chamber, they b	ring glasses of water and deliver 9:00 a.m.
Each meeting begins	with the entry of the Speaker i	nto the Chamber. The is approaching the entrance	to the Legislative Assembly. T	he Sergeant-at-Arms, carrying the mace on her right shoulder, leads the Spe	aker, the	of the House, the Clerks-at-the-Table and two Legislative Pages into the _ п	!" says the Senior Attendant a	is the enters the Chamber.
Everyone is standing as the	takes h	is place on the dais. The Clerk and the
	take the	eir places at the big table in front of the Speaker, ant-at-Arms then places the mace on the Clerk's table with the	pointing towards the	. The is a golden, ceremonial staff	used in parliament as a	of the Speaker's authority. The then bow	s to the Speaker, and proceeds to her desk near of the day, and then it's time to begin the day's work.

10.35 a.III.
MPPs may engage in	, present	, ask ques	stions of the government, or participate in any num	ber of other	activities. Th	ne most exciting part of the day is	, which beg	ins at 10:35 a.m. each d	lay and lasts 60 minutes. In fact, it is the longest Ques	tion Period in all of	! This is the	time that all MPPs get to ask questions of the	and the		about any issue or government business. No on	ie is allowed to speak unle	ss they are first	by the Speaker. When a member is recognize	ed, they must	and address anothe	r Member by their riding or their title, never by their name. There are many rules, practices and to follow in the Chamber! The Speaker calls on the leader of the, the party with the second highest number of MF	Ps, to ask the first questio	n of the government.
Meanwhile, the reporters are working hard to capture all the details in order to produce the daily	ily of the House proceedings, called Hansard. As for the Pages, they have to be alert and ready to quickly messages to the Cabinet Ministers that are answering questions. The Speaker wo	orks hard to keep order in t	he House!
At the end of Question Period,	the MPPs continue with the	eir daily work in the Hou	ise or in a Legislative T	slative They have an important job to do; they introduce new bills, pass new laws, or make changes	s to existing laws that affec	t the people across	·
At the end of the day, the Speaker will	l announce a motion to adj	ourn the House until the	e next meeting of parliament. The House is	!

Word Bank

Fill in the blanks using these words.

Premier messages Hansard

Pages prayers Speaker

Chamber Speaker's Parade recognized

Canada Ontario Committee

Official Opposition mace provincial

Question Period Order uniform

MPPs protocols parliament

debate Sergeant-at-Arms Clerk

transcripts House procession adjourned crown deliver

Cabinet Ministers petitions legislative

7 or 8 symbol Clerks-at-the-Table

Legislative Assembly government stand

Test your knowledge of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario!

Discover what a typical day is like at Ontario's Parliament.

Answer Sheet

8:55 a.m.

It is 8:55 a.m. and everyone is rushing around in the Legislative Building to get ready for the meeting of the Legislative Assembly, also called the House, which is about to begin promptly at 9:00 a.m. The sessional bells are ringing throughout the Legislative Building to summon all the Members of Provincial Parliament, or MPPs, to the Legislative Chamber. The young Legislative Pages look dapper in their traditional uniform as they scurry about getting the Chamber ready for the business day. They take their posts on either side of the Speaker and by the Chamber doors. The Pages serve in the House for approximately two to four weeks during each session. They are grade 7 or 8 students from across Ontario, who are here to learn about the legislative process and how parliament works. When in the Chamber, they bring glasses of water and deliver messages.

9:00 a.m.

Each meeting begins with the entry of the Speaker into the Chamber. The Speaker's Parade is approaching the entrance to the Legislative Assembly. The Sergeant-at-Arms, carrying the mace on her right shoulder, leads the Speaker, the Clerk of the House, the Clerks-at-the-Table and two Legislative Pages into the House.

" Order!" says the Senior Attendant as the procession enters the Chamber. Everyone is standing as the Speaker takes his place on the dais. The Clerk and the Clerks-at-the-Table take their places at the big table in front of the Speaker, and he Pages proceed to their assigned posts. The Sergeant-at-Arms then places the mace on the Clerk's table with the crown pointing towards the government. The mace is a golden, ceremonial staff used in parliament as a symbol of the Speaker's authority. The Sergeant-at-Arms then bows to the Speaker, and proceeds to her desk near the entrance of the Chamber. The Speaker reads the prayers of the day, and then it's time to begin the day's work.

10:35 a.m.

MPPs may engage in debate, present petitions, ask questions of the government, or participate in any number of other legislative activities. The most exciting part of the day is Question Period, which begins at 10:35 a.m. each day and lasts 60 minutes. In fact, it is the longest Question Period in all of Canada! This is the time that all MPPs get to ask questions of the Premier and the Cabinet Ministers about any issue or government business. No one is allowed to speak unless they are first recognized by the Speaker. When a member is recognized, they must stand and address another Member by their riding or their title, never by their name. There are many rules, practices and protocols to follow in the Chamber! The Speaker calls on the leader of the Official Opposition, the party with the second highest number of MPPs, to ask the first question of the government.

Meanwhile, the Hansard reporters are working hard to capture all the details in order to produce the daily transcripts of the House proceedings, called Hansard. As for the Pages, they have to be alert and ready to quickly deliver messages to the Cabinet Ministers that are answering questions. The Speaker works hard to keep order in the House!

At the end of Question Period, the MPPs continue with their daily work in the House or in a Legislative Committee. They have an important job to do; they introduce new provincial bills, pass new laws, or make changes to existing laws that affect the people across Ontario. At the end of the day, the Speaker will announce a motion to adjourn the House until the next meeting of parliament. The House is adjourned!